

eyeAm the proclaimer

proclaimer

eyeAm reserves all intellectual property rights and other rights in respect of all information provided on or via this website (including all texts, graphics and logos). It is not permitted to copy, download information on this website or in any way publish, distribute or reproduce without prior written consent of eyeAm. You may print information on this website and/or download for personal use. The information on this website is intended only as general information. No rights can be derived from the information on this website.

Comments

Starting point for comments on articles/posts on eyeAm viewOnRetail is always openness and transparency. eyeAm reserves the right to delete comments when this threatening or discriminatory. Even so if comments contain private data of individuals, they are immediately deleted.

Errors or incomplete information on www.eyeam.info?

On www.eyeam.info and our social media channels we do everything we can to keep everything up to date, complete and correct. If you do see an error or missing information to your idea? We appreciate your response and do our best to improve this site. Please send us an email: info@eyeam.info

Social media buttons

We want to make it as easy as possible for you to share our posts, blogs or information or to follow us. This can take place by means of a number of social media buttons and links. The various social media channels use code that allows them through the site to place cookies. These social media channels are collecting information they can obtain through cookies. Most social media channels will adhere to the Safe Harbor principles.

Of the following social media channels we use the buttons. Read the privacy statements of the respective social media channels to know what they do with the information collected. Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/policy.php>), Twitter (<https://twitter.com/privacy>), LinkedIn (<https://www.linkedin.com/legal/privacy-policy>), Pinterest(<https://about.pinterest.com/en/privacy-policy>).

eyeAm

B.E.M. Hoonhout
Prins Mauritslaan 160 A
2582 LZ Den Haag
+31(0)6 517 89 760